

ukulele rejects

Friday 27th April 11pm: return to Julius'

159 West 10 St at Waverly, West Village

Ukulele Rejects

Friday 27th April, 11pm - 1am.

Julius' Bar

159 W. 10 St and Waverly

West Village, New York

<http://www.ukulelecabaret.com/rejects>

Ukulele Cabaret returns to Julius' for a special 2-year anniversary show.

WARNING: this is not your father's ukulele. This show features ukulele rejects - those too controversial for mainstream ukulele audiences.

11pm - 1am: Ukulele Rejects

Sonic Uke: crossdressing ukulele freaks - boas to grass skirts in a single song

Mary Martin: outermost ukulele player from Provincetown, MA

D'yan Forest: incorrect lesbian sings about senior sex

Andru Cann: "Kiss me in a place where the sun don't shine"

Tom Harker: the secret police have dossiers on this rabble-rouser

Tim Pioppo: "we're 90% sure this song is about masturbation"

Gio Gaynor: suits and eyeliner, heavy metal uke and special guests too hot to mention ...

=====

Press contact:

Jason Tagg

jason@sonicuke.com

646 808 0377

Ted Gottfried

ted@sonicuke.com

646 257 3747

Photographs, videos and more at:

<http://ukulelecabaret.com/rejects>

Ukulele Cabaret

Saturday 28th April, 6pm 'til late.

Stage 43 at Jimmy's
43 East 7th Street
East Village, New York

<http://www.ukulelecabaret.com/>

New York duo Sonic Uke hosts monthly all-uke cabaret 6pm-1am last Saturdays of the month at Jimmy's No. 43, 43 East 7th Street. Next show: April 28th - 6pm, 7.30pm, 10pm and midnight. No cover.

First of all, forget whatever you thought you knew about the ukulele. Sonic Uke's "fourth wave" Ukulele Cabaret is more punk than pineapple - a freewheeling cavalcade of rockers and rejects pushing four strings to new limits.

What started two years ago as a two hour set in the back of West Village bar Julius' has exploded into a monthly 7 hour non-stop uke extravaganza at East Village gourmand-pub Jimmy's No. 43.

"It really has become the show for all the sorts of ukulele sounds that you can't hear at the mainstream ukulele festivals" explains Jason Tagg, one half of founding duo Sonic Uke. "We never turn performers down, so we have an incredible diverse cast that only gets stronger each month."

Or, as Sonic Uke's other half Ted Gottfried says: "Its freeform ukulele - a ukulele freakout, if you will."

A new uke movement for the new millennium. It starts here.

6pm: The Happy Happy Hour

Mike Bellusci: the Beatle guy

Howie Leifer: puppets, props, sea shanties and ukuleles

The Educated Fleas: yes, even they do it

Claudia Goddard: Hawaiian sounds from the sweetest gal

Evy Mayer: one third of Triborough, playing folk songs and novelties

Robert Hultman with Jukka: The Ukulele Conspiracy

Arch Larissa: a sweet one from downunder

7.30pm: Songwriters Set

Rush Kress: Elvis meets the Marlborough man

Thessaly Lerner: California's Ukulady steps in tonight only

(cont...)

Al Montroy: performing Jazz, Blues and Hawaiian music of the 20's
Alan Drogin: interpreting classical music on the ukulele
Doug Skinner: a miner of obscure gems
Reggie Wingnutz: glam '70's long-haired rocker
Tom Harker: rabble rousing anti-republicrat activist
Dana McCoy: the girl with the blue ukulele
Jamie Scandal: she's a beautiful scandalicious mess and we love her for it

10pm: Extreme Uke

Chris Combs: outsider artist trying in vain to be normal
Mary Martin: outermost ukulele player from Provincetown, MA
Les Chauds Lapins: French music-hall songs from the 20's through 40's
D'yan Forest: risque standup comedienne sings the joys of senior sex
Duncan Pflaster: has a knack for finding that special song
Andru Cann: sensitive love songs that will make you feel uneasy
Kelli Rae Powell: wry and seductive, inventor of the 'drinkaby'
Patsy Monteleone: master interpreter of the jazz age
Tim Pioppo: keyboard-uke duo rediscovering songs from the 90s

midnight: British Invasion

Rufus Yells: the bearded wonder from Catford
Alli Bee: Ukulele Cosmos landlady
Ray Shakeshaft: zen uker
Charlie Connelly: our best selling author (he really is)
Simon Coleman: badly drawn uke boy
Phil Powell: sock monkey madness
Nice Nick: the nicest uke player in the world
Brian PopMonkey: likes a bit of that!
hosted by our special surprise guest ...

-----
Press contact:
Jason Tagg
jason@sonicuke.com
646 808 0377

Ted Gottfried
ted@sonicuke.com
646 257 3747

Photographs, videos and more at:
<http://www.ukulelecabaret.com/>